New Dates for Beijing InfoComm China

Asia Pacific's premier Professional AudioVisual and Transformational Technology event will now take place from 19 – 21 July 2023.

25 November 2022, Beijing – To align with China's prevention and control measures of the pandemic, Beijing InfoComm China, which was scheduled from 21 – 23 December 2022, will now take place from 19 – 21 July 2023. The Show venue remains at the China National Convention Center (CNCC). Show Organizer, InfoCommAsia remains committed to delivering a power-packed Show floor experience with innovative yet practical business solutions that exhibitors and solution-seekers have come to expect of Beijing InfoComm China.

"Beijing InfoComm China has long held the reputation of being the Professional AudioVisual (Pro-AV) business solution event that the region's solution-seekers look forward to," said Richard Tan, Executive Director of InfoCommAsia. "Given that the physical event is taking place in July 2023, we are anticipating an exceptionally lively marketplace when the Covid situation improves. With this new timeline, we will most certainly be looking at more ways to deliver a show experience that is second to none."

InfoCommAsia thanks everyone for their patience, understanding and continued support amid a very challenging 2022.
